Introduction

I believe that legislation can be one of the primary sources of social change and social regulation. Legislative measures are some of the most effective means of combating a serious problem such as trafficking in persons.

This booklet is designed to provide the reader with a basic understanding of the appropriate legal responses to trafficking in persons in accordance with international law and comparative legislation. The booklet offers a graphic presentation of the main legislative instruments in simple and non-technical language, but without compromising any legal terms.

I argue that five basic elements should be incorporated into any antitrafficking legislation. First, laws must recognize all forms of trafficking as specific crimes that are subject to serious sanctions. Second, these laws must identify the trafficked person as a victim of a crime who is entitled to basic human rights, while taking into consideration not only the victim already identified as such, but also the derivative victim, the vulnerable victim, the potential victim, and the presumed victim. Third, countries should adopt a comprehensive Five P’s approach to combating trafficking in persons, including prevention, protection, provision, prosecution, and participation. Fourth, laws must target all actors in the trafficking enterprise, including the natural person, the legal person, the private person, and the public person. Finally, countries should acknowledge trafficking in persons as a transnational crime that warrants transnational policies. These should especially cover extraterritoriality, extradition, and the exchange of information.

This booklet explains these five basic elements as based upon the United Nations Protocol to Prevent, Suppress and Punish Trafficking in Persons, Especially Women and Children, Supplementing the United Nations Convention against Transnational Organized Crime as well as the Council of Europe Convention on Action against Trafficking in Human Beings. The United States Trafficking Victims Protection Act is included to provide a comparative model in combating trafficking in persons. Trafficking-related statutes under international law and domestic legislation are also considered.

I would like to thank Marina Elefante, Anna Koppel, and George Sadek for conducting extensive background research and meticulously editing the document. I am also grateful to Kashka Kisztelinska of KMK Studio for designing this booklet.

I hope you find this information helpful.

A Victim-Centered Approach to Trafficking in Persons: Building on International Legal Principles
1. Definitions of Forms of Trafficking under International Law

Trafficking in Persons
Trafficking in persons shall mean the recruitment, transportation, transfer, harbouring or receipt of persons, by means of the threat or use of force or other forms of coercion, of abduction, of fraud, of deception, of the abuse of power or of a position of vulnerability or of the giving or receiving of payments or benefits to achieve the consent of a person having control over another person, for the purpose of exploitation. Exploitation shall include, at a minimum, the exploitation of the prostitution of others or other forms of sexual exploitation, forced labour or services, slavery or practices similar to slavery, servitude or the removal of organs. (United Nations Protocol to Prevent, Suppress and Punish Trafficking in Persons, Especially Women and Children, supplementing the United Nations Convention against Transnational Organized Crime—2000)

Slavery
The status or condition of a person over whom any or all of the powers attaching to the right of ownership are exercised. (Slavery, Servitude, Forced Labour and Similar Institutions and Practices Convention —1926)

Enslavement
The exercise of any or all of the powers attaching to the right of ownership over a person and includes the exercise of such power in the course of trafficking in persons, in particular women and children. (Rome Statute of the International Criminal Court—2002)

Practices Similar to Slavery
The act of conveying or attempting to convey slaves from one country to another by whatever means of transport, or of being accessory thereto; the act of mutilating, branding or otherwise marking a slave or a person of servile status in order to indicate his status, or as a punishment, or for any other reason, or of being accessory thereto. (Supplementary Convention on the Abolition of Slavery, the Slave Trade, and Institutions and Practices Similar to Slavery—1956)

Servitude
The status or condition of dependency of a person who is unlawfully compelled or coerced by another to render any service to the same person or to others and who has no reasonable alternative but to perform the service. Servitude shall include domestic service and debt bondage. (Early draft of the United Nations Protocol to Prevent, Suppress and Punish Trafficking in Persons, Especially Women and Children—2000)

Slave Trade
All acts involved in the capture, acquisition or disposal of a person with intent to reduce him to slavery; all acts involved in the acquisition of a slave with a view to selling or exchanging him; all acts of disposal by sale or exchange of a slave acquired with a view to being sold or exchanged, and, in general, every act of trade or transport in slaves. (Slavery, Servitude, Forced Labour and Similar Institutions and Practices Convention—1926)

Debt Bondage
The status or condition arising from a pledge by a debtor of his personal services or of those of a person under his control as security for a debt, if the value of those services as reasonably assessed is not applied towards the liquidation of the debt or the length and nature of those services are not respectively limited and defined. (Supplementary Convention on the Abolition of Slavery, the Slave Trade, and Institutions and Practices Similar to Slavery—1956)

Forced Labor
All work or service which is exacted from any person under the menace of any penalty and for which the said person has not offered himself voluntarily. (International Labour Organisation Convention concerning Forced or Compulsory Labour—1932)
2. Trafficking in Persons and Smuggling of Migrants

Category of the Crime
- Trafficking: is a crime against the individual. It endangers human security.
- Smuggling: is a crime against the state. It constitutes a threat to national security.

Routes
- Trafficking: may occur domestically or internationally.
- Smuggling: is always transnational in nature, since it requires crossing borders without complying with the necessary requirements for legal entry into the receiving State.*

Residency Permit
- Victims of trafficking should be entitled to a residency status.
- Smuggled persons should be repatriated to their country of origin.

Consent
- Consent is irrelevant in cases of trafficking, since the trafficked person is a vulnerable victim who has no choice but to submit to exploitation.
- Smuggled persons consent to illegally enter the receiving State.

3. Forms of Sex Trafficking*

- Commercial Sex
  - Prostitution
  - Sexually-Oriented Performances
    - Stripping
    - Massage with special ending
  - Other Forms of Commercial Sexual Exploitation
    - Pornography
    - Sex tourism
      - Child sex tourism
      - Adult sex tourism

- Non-Commercial Sex
  - Early Marriage
    - Child Marriage
  - Forced Marriage
  - Arranged Marriage
  - Temporary Marriage
  - Marriage by Catalog
    - Mail-Order Bride
  - Marriage for Child Bearing

---

* These forms of sex trafficking reflect the opinion of the author, which may not necessarily coincide with the prevailing interpretation of the relevant international law or comparative legislation.

1 Trafficking for the purpose of prostitution is a form of trafficking which is distinguished from trafficking for exploitation of prostitution of others.

2 Although sexually-oriented establishments may be recognized as providing legitimate services, they are frequently used as a front for prostitution and other forms of sexual exploitation.

3 Although marriage is a legal institution, it can become a form of trafficking in any of these forms if it involves an element of exploitation.
4. Forms of Labor Trafficking

- Domestic Servitude
- Construction Work
- Agricultural Labor
- Sweatshops
- Entertainment Industry
- Armed Conflicts
- Service Industry
  - Industrial Labor
  - Textile Labor
5. Forms of Trafficking in Children

*Adoption may be a form of trafficking only if the child is exploited. In the absence of exploitation, adoption does not constitute a form of trafficking even if the child is being sold, although adoption in such a case would be illegal.

6. Routes of Trafficking in Persons

*International trafficking is most commonly committed in more than one state. However, trafficking in persons is considered a transnational crime also if it is committed in one state but a substantial part of its preparation, planning, direction or control takes place in another state; if it is committed in one state but involves an organized criminal group that engages in criminal activities in more than one state; and if it is committed in one state but has substantial effects in another state (United Nations Convention against Transnational Organized Crime, art. 3(2)).
7. Victims of Trafficking Bill of Rights*

Victims of Trafficking in Persons Are to Be Treated with Dignity, Fairness, Compassion and Respect for Human Rights

Victims Are Entitled to:

- The Right to Safety
- The Right to Privacy
- The Right to Information
- The Right to Legal Representation
- The Right to Be Heard in Court
- The Right to Compensation for Damages
- The Right to Medical Assistance
- The Right to Social Assistance
- The Right to Seek Residence
- The Right to Return

* The Bill of Rights is based on remarks presented by the Executive Director of The Protection Project, Mohamed Mattar, at the International Conference on “21st Century Slavery—The Human Rights Dimension to Trafficking in Human Beings” held in Rome, Italy on May 15-16, 2002.

- Ensuring availability of shelters and housing
- Providing access to psychological care
- Providing access to medical care
- Providing access to training and employment opportunities

Reintegration
- Addressing stigma of prostitution
- Addressing cultural vulnerabilities
- Taking necessary measures to ensure that a victim is not re-victimized

12. The Three EXes*

Exchange of Information
- Between countries of origin, transit, and destination
- Mutual assistance in criminal matters
- Information gathering, information sharing, and information dissemination
- Bilateral treaties
- Regional conventions
- Harmonization of standards and measures

Extradition
- The recognition of trafficking in persons as an extraditable offense
- Extradition treaties
- International conventions as basis for extraditions

Extraterritoriality
- The application of domestic law regardless of the country where the act is committed
- Peacekeeping missions
- Military jurisdiction
- Child sex tourism
- Beyond extraterritoriality: the principle of universality
- Trafficking in persons as a crime against humanity

The Three EXs approach recognizes trafficking in persons as a transnational crime that requires transnational measures.

13. Forms of Trafficking in Persons*

- Exploitation of the Prostitution of Others
- Other Forms of Sexual Exploitation
- Forced Labor or Services
- Slavery
- Practices Similar to Slavery
- Servitude
- Removal of Organs

* These are the recognized forms of trafficking in accordance with Article 3(a) of the United Nations Protocol to Prevent, Suppress, and Punish Trafficking in Persons, Especially Women and Children, supplementing the United Nations Convention against Transnational Organized Crime. Article 3 states that: “Trafficking in persons shall mean the recruitment, transportation, transfer, harboring or receipt of persons, by means of threat or use of force or other forms of coercion, of abduction, of fraud, of deception, of the abuse of power or of a position of vulnerability or of the giving or receiving of payments or benefits to achieve the consent of a person having control over another person, for the purpose of exploitation. Exploitation shall include, at a minimum, the exploitation of the prostitution of others or other forms of sexual exploitation, forced labor or services, slavery or practices similar to slavery; servitude or the removal of organs.” However, it must be noted that these forms are mentioned “at a minimum.” A legal system may recognize other forms of trafficking in persons.
14. Prevention

Trafficking in Persons/ Re-Victimization

- Alleviation of Factors Contributing to the Vulnerability of Women and Children
  - Economic initiatives
    - Combating poverty
    - Combating under-development
  - Social initiatives
    - Combating lack of equal opportunity
- Security and Control of Documents
- Cooperation with NGOs and Civil Society
- Border Measures
- Research
- Information and Mass Media Campaigns
- Discourage Demand
- Bilateral and Multilateral Cooperation

15. Assistance and Protection

Physical, Psychological and Social Recovery
- Physical Safety
- Identity: Privacy and Confidentiality
- Repatriation
- Residency Status
- Information on Court Proceedings
- Compensation for Damages
- Housing
- Counseling
- Medical and Psychological Assistance
- Information on Legal Rights
- Employment, Educational Training

These measures must be provided taking into account the age, gender, and special needs of victims of trafficking, especially children.

Trafficking in Persons under the Council of Europe Convention on Action against Trafficking in Human Beings
17. Forms of Trafficking in Human Beings*

These are the recognized forms of trafficking in accordance with Article 4(a) of the Council of Europe Convention on Action against Trafficking in Human Beings of 2005. Article 4(a) states that: “Trafficking in human beings shall mean the recruitment, transportation, transfer, harboring or receipt of persons, by means of threat or use of force or other forms of coercion, of abduction, of fraud, of deception, of the abuse of power or of a position of vulnerability or of the giving or receiving of payments or benefits to achieve the consent of a person having control over another person, for the purpose of exploitation. Exploitation shall include, at a minimum, the exploitation of the prostitution of others or other forms of sexual exploitation, forced labor or services, slavery or practices similar to slavery; servitude or the removal of organs.” However, it must be noted that these forms are mentioned “at a minimum.” A legal system may recognize other forms of trafficking in persons.
18. Trafficking in Children

Criminalization
- Exploitation of a child is “trafficking” even in the absence of any illegal means [Art. 4]
- Child trafficking is an aggravated circumstance that warrants an enhanced penalty [Art. 24]
- Special protection should be granted to child witnesses, [Art. 28/3] especially during court proceedings [Art. 30]

Prevention
- Child-sensitive approach in development, implementation and assessment of policies and programs [Art. 5(3)]
- Reducing vulnerability to trafficking, by creating a protective environment [Art. 5(5)]
- Educational programs for boys and girls on sex discrimination, gender equity, and human dignity and integrity [Art. 6(d)]

Protection
- Identification
  - If age is uncertain, the victim will be provided with special protection measures pending age verification. [Art. 10(3)]
  - When a child is identified as a victim, identity and nationality must be established. When in his/her best interest, a legal guardian will provide his/her representation and his/her family will be located. [Art. 10(4)]

- Privacy
  - Preventing identity from becoming public, except to facilitate tracing of family members or secure well being of child [Art. 11(2)]

- Assistance and Recovery
  - Assisting in physical, psychological and social recovery, including education and healthcare [Art. 12]

- Residence Permit
  - When legally necessary, issued and renewed in accordance with the best interests of the child [Art. 14(2)]

- Repatriation
  - Includes right to education and care or receipt by the family or appropriate structures [Art. 16(5)]

---

Council of Europe Convention on Action against Trafficking in Human Beings, 2005.
19. Criminalization

Natural persons/Legal persons

- Sanctions and Measures
  - Effective, proportionate and dissuasive, including deprivation of liberty, which can give rise to extradition, and monetary sanctions for legal persons [Art. 23(1) and 23(2)]
  - Confiscation of proceeds of crime or of property of corresponding value [Art. 23(3)]
  - Closure of establishments used to carry out trafficking [Art. 23(4)]
- Criminalization
  - Committing, attempting, aiding or abetting trafficking [Art. 18 and 21]
  - Use of services, including prostitution and other forms of sexual exploitation, forced labor, slavery, practices similar to slavery, servitude and removal of organs, with the knowledge that the person is a victim of trafficking [Art. 19]
  - Committing, attempting, aiding or abetting forgery of travel or identity documents, procurement of such documents, with the knowledge that the person is a victim of trafficking [Art. 20-21]
- Investigation and Prosecution
  - Not dependent upon report or accusation by a victim [Art. 27(1)]
  - Penalties not to be imposed on victims for their involvement in unlawful activities to the extent that they have been compelled to do so [Art. 26]
  - Victims and family members, witnesses, collaborators with judicial authorities and members of organizations [Art. 28, 30]

Council of Europe Convention on Action against Trafficking in Human Beings, 2005.
20. Prevention

Prevention

- Research, Public Awareness, and Training
  - Research information
  - Awareness and education campaigns
  - Social and economic initiatives
  - Training programs for persons vulnerable to trafficking
  - Training programs for professionals concerned with trafficking in human beings

- Eradicating Child Trafficking

- Discouraging Demand
  - Research on effective practices to combat demand
  - Raising awareness on demand as one of the root causes for trafficking
  - Educational programs on gender equality, human dignity and integrity

- Cooperation
  - Among national bodies
  - With NGOs

- Monitoring Migration
  - Enabling migration to take place legally

- Security of documents
  - Ensure legitimacy and quality of travel documents
  - Prevent unlawful creation of such documents

- Border measures
  - Strengthen border controls
  - Obligation of commercial carriers to check possession of documents of passengers
  - Permission to deny entry or revoke visas of those implicated in trafficking
  - Cooperation among border control agencies

Cross-Cutting Approaches
- Human rights approach
- Gender mainstreaming
- Child sensitive approach

Council of Europe Convention on Action against Trafficking in Human Beings, 2005 (Articles 5-9).
21. Protection of Victims

Identification of Victims
- Identification of victims shall be performed by well-trained and qualified personnel.
- Identification procedures shall take into account the special situation of women and child victims.
- Victims shall not be removed until identification is complete.

Safety and Security of Persons
- Protection of private life and identity of victims.
- Access to protective services and integration:
  - Appropriate and secure accommodation.
  - Psychological and material assistance.

27. T-Visa Requirements

Eligibility for T-Visa Requires that a Victim of Trafficking:

- Is or has been a victim of a severe form of trafficking in persons
- Would suffer extreme hardship involving unusual and severe harm upon removal from the United States
- Is physically present in the United States
- Has complied with any reasonable request for assistance in the investigation OR prosecution of acts of trafficking OR is under the age of 18

T1: Eligible victim
T2: Spouse
T3: Child
T4: Parents of an alien who has not attained the age of 21
T5: Siblings

- age of victim and personal circumstances
- serious mental or physical illness
- nature and extent of physical and psychological consequences
- loss of access to U.S. courts
- home country would penalize applicant
- likelihood of revictimization
- likelihood of retribution
- likelihood that individual safety would be seriously threatened

Adjustment to Permanent Resident Status

- Has been physically present in the United States for a continuous period of at least 3 years since the date of admission under a T-Visa;
- Has, throughout such period, been a person of good moral character; and
- Has, during such period complied with any reasonable request for the assistance in the investigation or prosecution of acts of trafficking OR would suffer extreme hardship involving unusual and severe harm upon removal.

U.S. Trafficking Victims Protection Act, 2000, (Section 107).
28. Minimum Standards for the Elimination of Trafficking in Persons

Standards

- Prohibition and punishment of trafficking in persons
- Punishment commensurate with that of serious crimes
- Punishment sufficiently stringent to deter
- Serious and sustained efforts to eliminate trafficking in persons

Criteria to Measure a Country’s Serious and Sustained Efforts to Eliminate Trafficking in Persons

- Investigations, prosecutions, convictions, and sentences
- Protection: legal status and decriminalization
- Cooperation with other governments
- Prevention: educating the public and addressing potential victims
- Extradition
- Monitoring immigration
- Measures against public corruption, including prosecutions, convictions, and sentences
- Demand for commercial sex acts
- International sex tourism
- Forced labor and child labor
- Peacekeeping

Factors to Be Considered in Determining Whether a Country Is Making Significant Efforts to Bring Itself into Compliance with the Minimum Standards*

- Whether the country is a country of origin, transit or destination
- Extent of government noncompliance, including extent to which government officials have participated in, facilitated, condoned, or were complicit in trafficking
- Reasonable anti-trafficking measures in light of country’s resources and capabilities
- Percentage of non-citizen victims insignificant
- Monitoring and publicly assessing anti-trafficking efforts
- Progress in eliminating trafficking when compared to previous year
- Provision of data by the government

U.S. Trafficking Victims Protection Act, 2000 (Sections 108 and 110).

*This chart is based on a distinction between criteria and factors, which the TVPA sometimes confuses.
29. Actions against Governments Failing to Meet Minimum Standards
Withholding of Assistance by Presidential Determination

Targeting any government that:
- Does not comply with minimum standards for the elimination of trafficking; and
- Is not making significant efforts to bring itself into compliance with such standards

- U.S. will not provide non-humanitarian, non-trade related foreign assistance for subsequent year until government complies with minimum standards or makes significant efforts to bring itself into compliance.
- If the country received no non-humanitarian, non-trade related assistance in the previous year, the U.S. will not provide funding for educational and cultural exchange programs for officials or employees of that government in the following year until government complies with minimum standards or makes significant efforts to bring itself into compliance.
- U.S. will instruct multilateral development banks and the IMF to vote against and/or deny any loan or funding until government complies with minimum standards or makes significant efforts to bring itself into compliance.

Exceptions
- If the country is already subject to multiple, broad-based restrictions on assistance in response to human rights violations.

Exercise of Waiver of Authority by the President:
Notwithstanding failure of government to comply with minimum standards and to make efforts to bring itself into compliance the President shall exercise his waiver authority:
- If the provision of assistance would promote the purposes of the TVPA or is in the national interest.
- When it is necessary to avoid significant adverse effects on vulnerable populations.

<td>Where illegal adoption amounts to a practice similar to slavery, it will fall within the scope of the Protocol. [Para. 66]</td>
<td>States shall ensure alternative care for children who cannot be left in the environment of their families. This care can include foster placement, kafalah of Islamic law, adoption or other suitable steps, which reflect the child’s best interests regarding ethnic, religious, cultural and linguistic background. [Art. 20]</td>
<td>Objective: To Ensure that inter-country adoption takes place in the interest of the child and to prevent abduction, sale of, or traffic in children. [Art. 1] The convention covers only adoptions creating permanent parent-child relationships. [Art. 2] All options for placement within the state must be considered before selecting the alternative of inter-country adoptions. [Art. 4] The State must select an authority to take care of the duties imposed by the Convention. [Art. 6] These authorities must act to prevent improper financial gain in connection with an adoption. [Art. 8] Each State must make notification of the identity of the authority competent to certify an adoption. When certified by this designated authority, an adoption made in accordance with the convention shall be recognized by all other Contracting States. [Art. 23] A state can refuse to recognize an adoption only if it is manifestly contrary to its public policy on the best interest of the child. [Art. 24] No one shall derive improper financial or other gain, or receive unreasonably high remuneration for an activity related to inter-country adoption. Only costs and expenses, including reasonable professional fees of persons involved in the adoption, may be charged or paid. [Art. 32]</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>States must ensure that adoption is authorized only by competent authorities. States must recognize inter-country adoption as an alternative if there is no suitable method of care in the child’s home country, and ensure safeguards for this adoption that match with the rules of the native country. [Art. 21]</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

The Purpose of this Act is to:

2. Protect the rights of, and prevent abuses against children, birth families, and adoptive parents involved, and to ensure that such adoption is in the children’s best interest.
3. Improve the ability of the Federal Government to assist United States citizens to adopt children from abroad and residents of other countries seeking to adopt children from the U.S.

The Act Provides that:

No person may offer or provide adoption services in the United States unless that person is:
1. Accredited or approved;
2. Providing such services under supervision of an accredited agency or approved person.

The Secretary of State shall enter into agreements with one or more qualified entities that will provide for the accreditation of agencies, and approval of persons, to provide adoption services in the U.S.

A qualified entity means a non-profit private entity, that has expertise in providing child welfare services and conforms with the requirements of child and family service authorized under Sec.112a of the Social Security Act.

The Secretary of State shall submit a report describing the activities of the central authority of the U.S. under this Act.

The duties of such an entity is:
1. Accreditation and approval of adoption agencies;
2. Undertake related oversight, enforcement and information collection activities.

The Secretary of State is to provide central authorities of other Convention countries with information concerning accredited agencies and approved persons as well as those suspended or canceled from accreditation or approval.

The Secretary of State shall monitor the performance by each accrediting entity of its duties and compliance with the Convention, and suspend or cancel the accreditation of an agency or person found out of compliance.
